Powerball® Jackpot Set to Grow Faster with UK Expansion

The $2 ticket price and jackpot odds for U.S. players will remain unchanged.

The Powerball® jackpot is set to expand across the Atlantic this summer, giving players in the United Kingdom the opportunity to play for the same Powerball jackpot available to players in the U.S.

The Multi-State Lottery Association (MUSL), representing 39 U.S. lotteries, announced in April, a historic agreement with Allwyn UK, the government-authorized operator of The UK National Lottery.

Through this agreement, the number of lotteries pooling funds for the Powerball jackpot will increase from 48 U.S. lotteries to 49 with the addition of The UK National Lottery, marking the first time a non-U.S. lottery will contribute to the jackpot.

Game leaders say the expansion is driven by two key goals. First, with the addition of UK players, the Powerball jackpot is expected to grow more quickly due to a larger population base playing the game, without altering core features that U.S. players value, including the $2 ticket price and jackpot odds.

Lotteries in the United States and The UK National

Lottery will pool funds only for the Powerball jackpot, not lower-tier prizes. Tickets purchased in the UK will contribute the same fixed U.S. dollar amount per play to the jackpot pool as tickets purchased in the United States, though UK players will have a different lower-tier prize structure and payouts.

For United States players, there will be no change to how Powerball is played. They will continue to choose five white ball numbers from 1–69 and one red Powerball number from 1–26. Because the universe of numbers and draw mechanics remain unchanged, players will continue to have the same odds of winning the jackpot and lower-tier prizes.

Powerball drawings will continue to be held every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 10:59 p.m. ET from the Powerball draw studio in Florida. In addition to the same draw nights, players will have the same $2 base ticket price, lower-tier cash prizes and, most importantly, the same odds of winning the jackpot. Additional answers to U.S. players' questions can be found at powerball.com/faqs.

A complete list of all current games can be found on the lottery website at ialottery.com.

How to Cash Pull-tabs: All employees at your retail location that deal with lottery should be familiar with the process of verifying and paying pull-tab tickets.

The most important thing to know is pull-tab prizes must be paid at the same location where the ticket was sold. Retailers should pay prizes up to and including $600. Prizes of more than $600 require mailing the ticket in or visiting a lottery office.

Verifying Pull-tab Tickets Using the Wireless Bar Code Reader: Scan the bar code on the pull-tab ticket using the wireless bar code reader. Pull-tab tickets cannot be verified using the document scanner. If the ticket was sold by the verifying retailer, the terminal will respond with a pop-up message: "Ticket Was Sold Here."

If the ticket was not sold by the verifying retailer, the terminal will respond with a message of "Ticket Was Not Sold Here." Advise the player that they must redeem where it was sold.

Verifying Pull-tab Tickets Manually:

1. Verify that the ticket has won a prize
2. Tap the Cash/Cancel tab
3. Tap Verify Pull-tab
4. Manually enter the Ticket Serial Number using the Keypad. The numbers display in the keypad display window
5. Touch OK to accept the displayed number, or touch C (clear) to re-enter the numbers.
6. You will receive the same pop-up message about whether you were the seller of the ticket as mentioned above.
